Dale Rogers Training Center (DRTC) celebrates its 65th year of service to Oklahoma City in 2018.

DRTC has transformed from its humble beginnings in a dairy barn on an unpaved road to one of the most award-winning and accredited agencies of its kind in the Southwest. The nonprofit agency trains and employs approximately 1,100 teenagers and adults with disabilities every year. Combined, those individuals earned $5.1 million in wages last year.

Today, DRTC has many diverse businesses and training programs: 83% of all clients are in the community, at an enclave, a trial job, or a job at local businesses; the remaining 17% work at full wage making framing or awards, commensurate wages performing subcontract work.

While we accept donations, we'd really love to have you as a customer. By tripling our product line, you have more options to purchase Prairie Spices, photo frames, awards and promotional items. DRTC is 85% self-sufficient; help us reach 100%.

Ordering from DRTC not only supports the agency, but it also provides jobs for the hard working clients we provide opportunities to every day.

We are looking forward to serving Oklahomans like you for the next 65 years.

Connie Thrash McGoodwin,
M.Ed., Executive Director
